Step 8: Select "FINAL IMAGES" if there are multiple options.
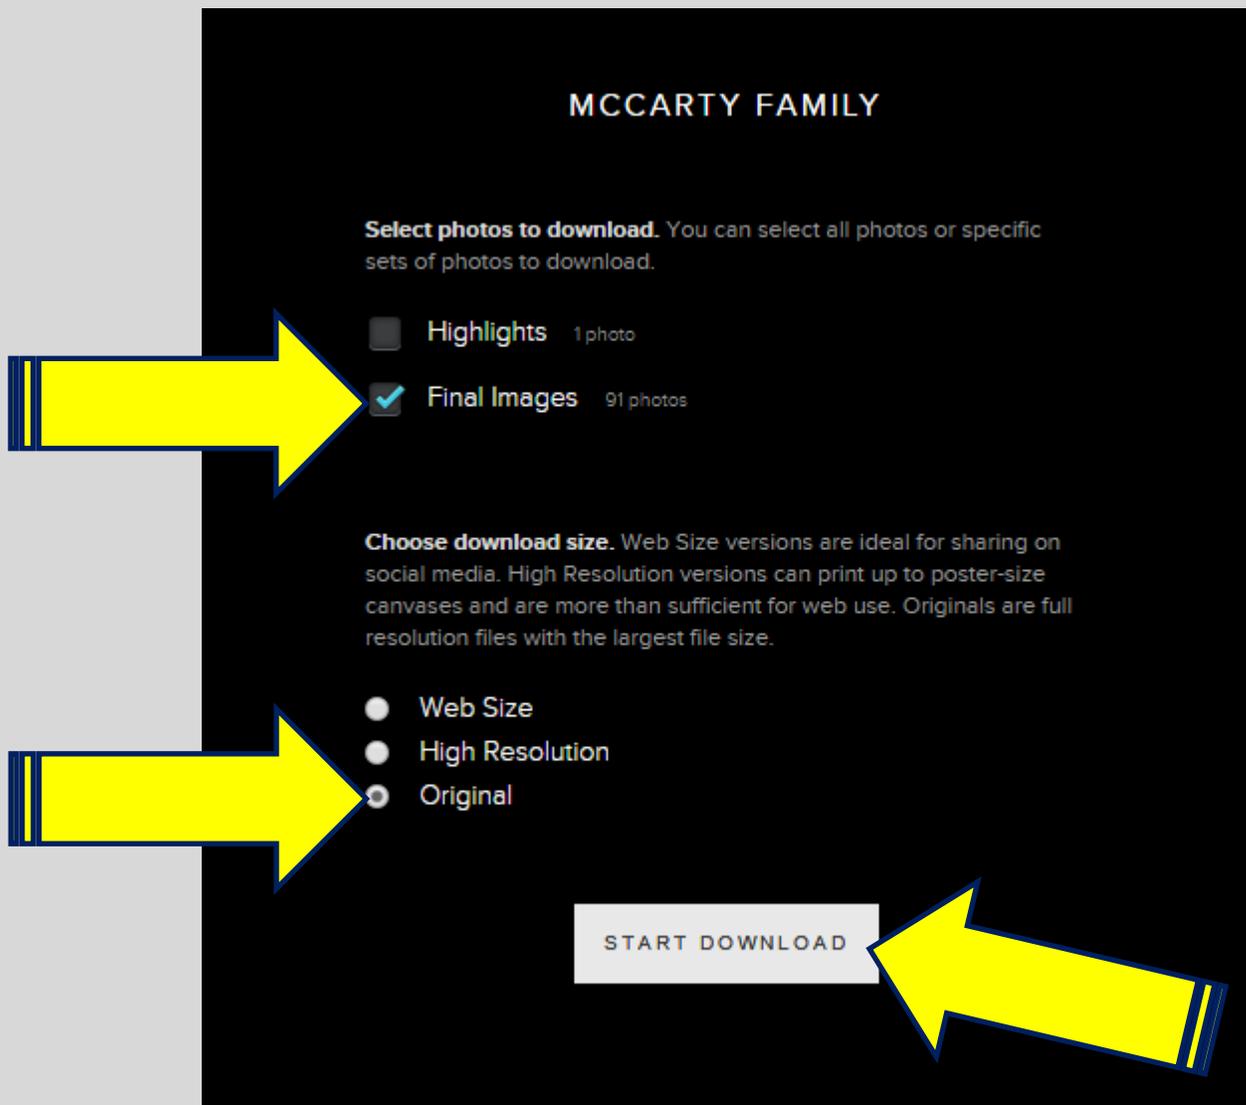

Step 9: Select original resolution. This will give you the highest quality images.

Step 10: Click "START DOWNLOAD".

Step 11: Wait. This could take a while. I recommend waiting up to 15 minutes.
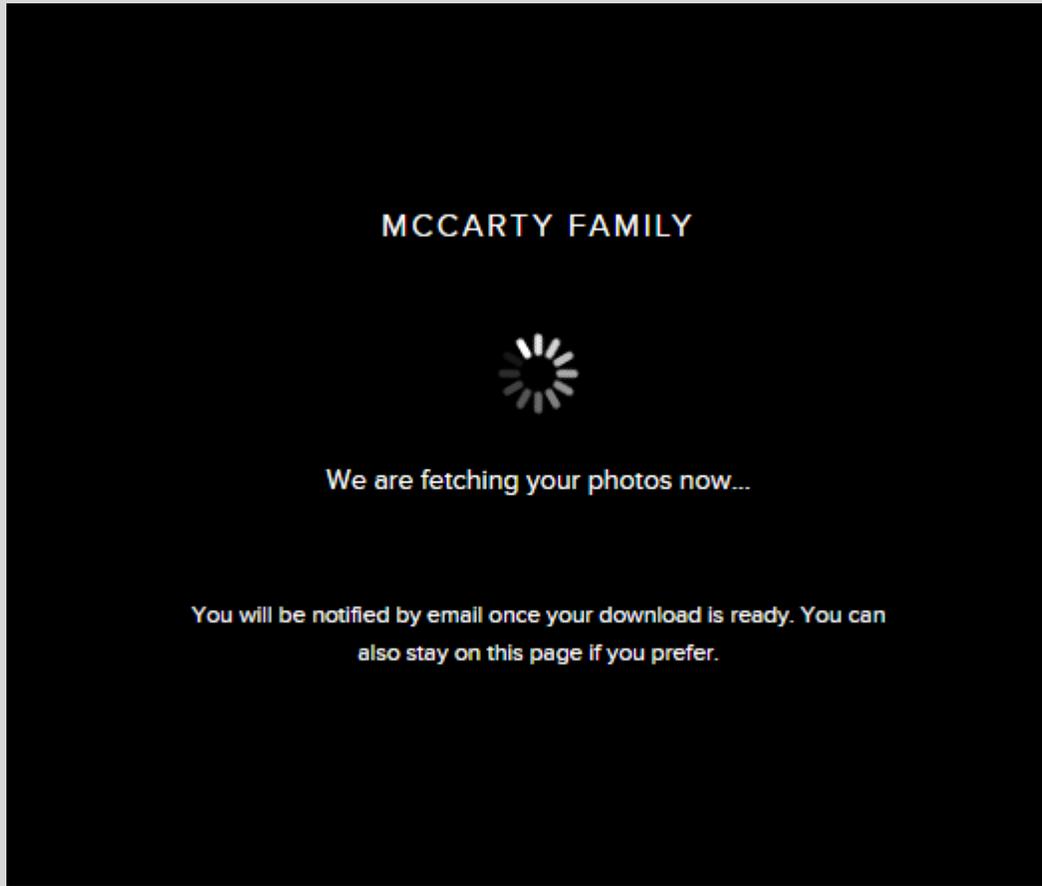

Step 12: (Bypass Step 12 if you still see the box above.) When you receive the e-mail, open it and click the link.
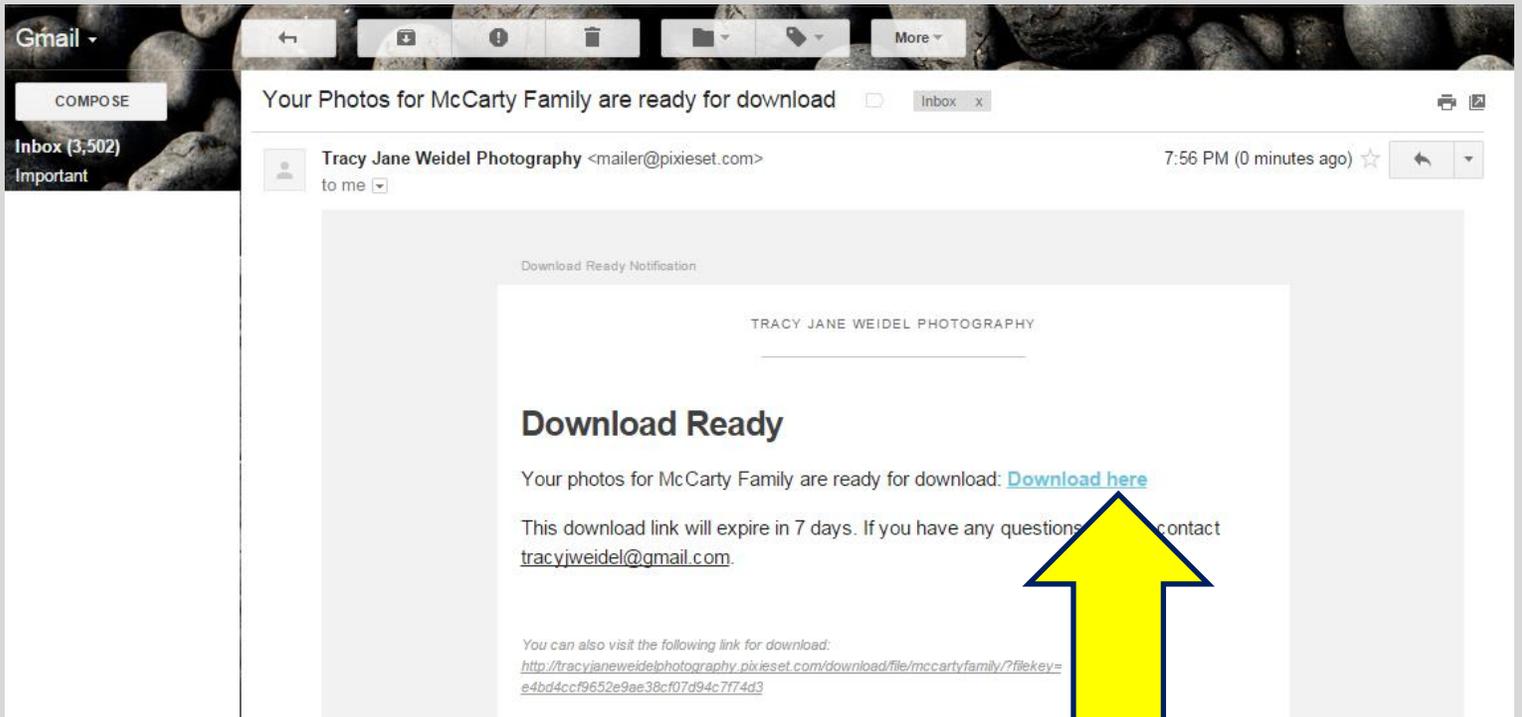

Step 13: Click the "download" link again. Your computer will start downloading a zip file. Wait again. Depending on your internet speed, it could take hours for the .zip file to download. I recommend waiting up to 8 hours.

Step 15: When you find the zipped folder, right click it and select "EXTRACT ALL".
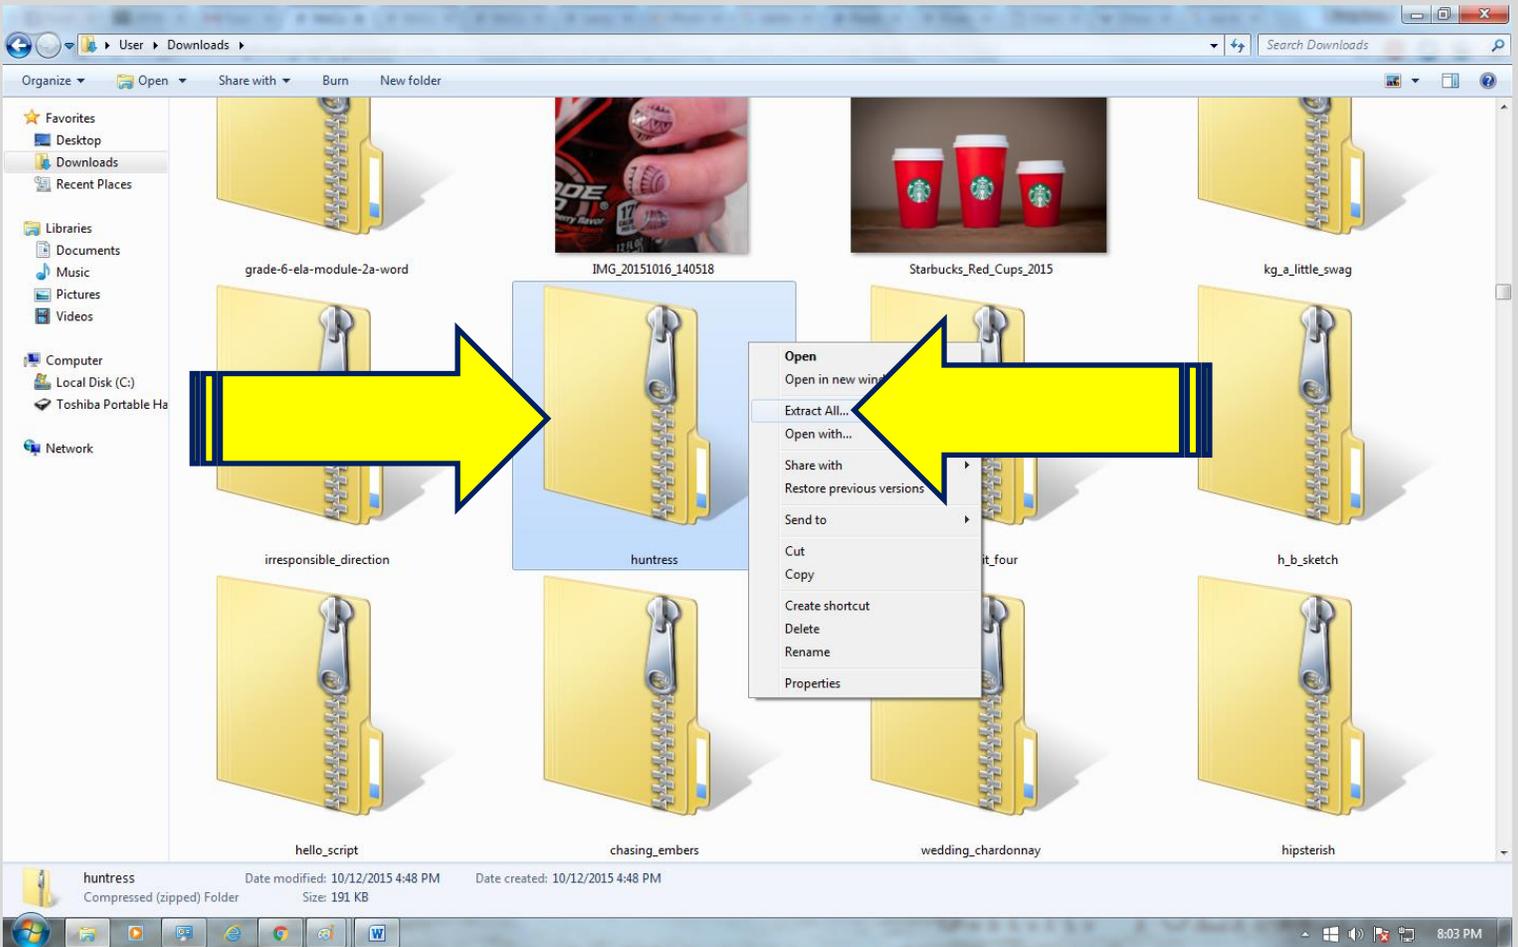

Step 16: You can then click "BROWSE" and choose where you want to put your photos. I usually store mine in my "PICUTRES" library. Click "OKAY" and then "EXTRACT".
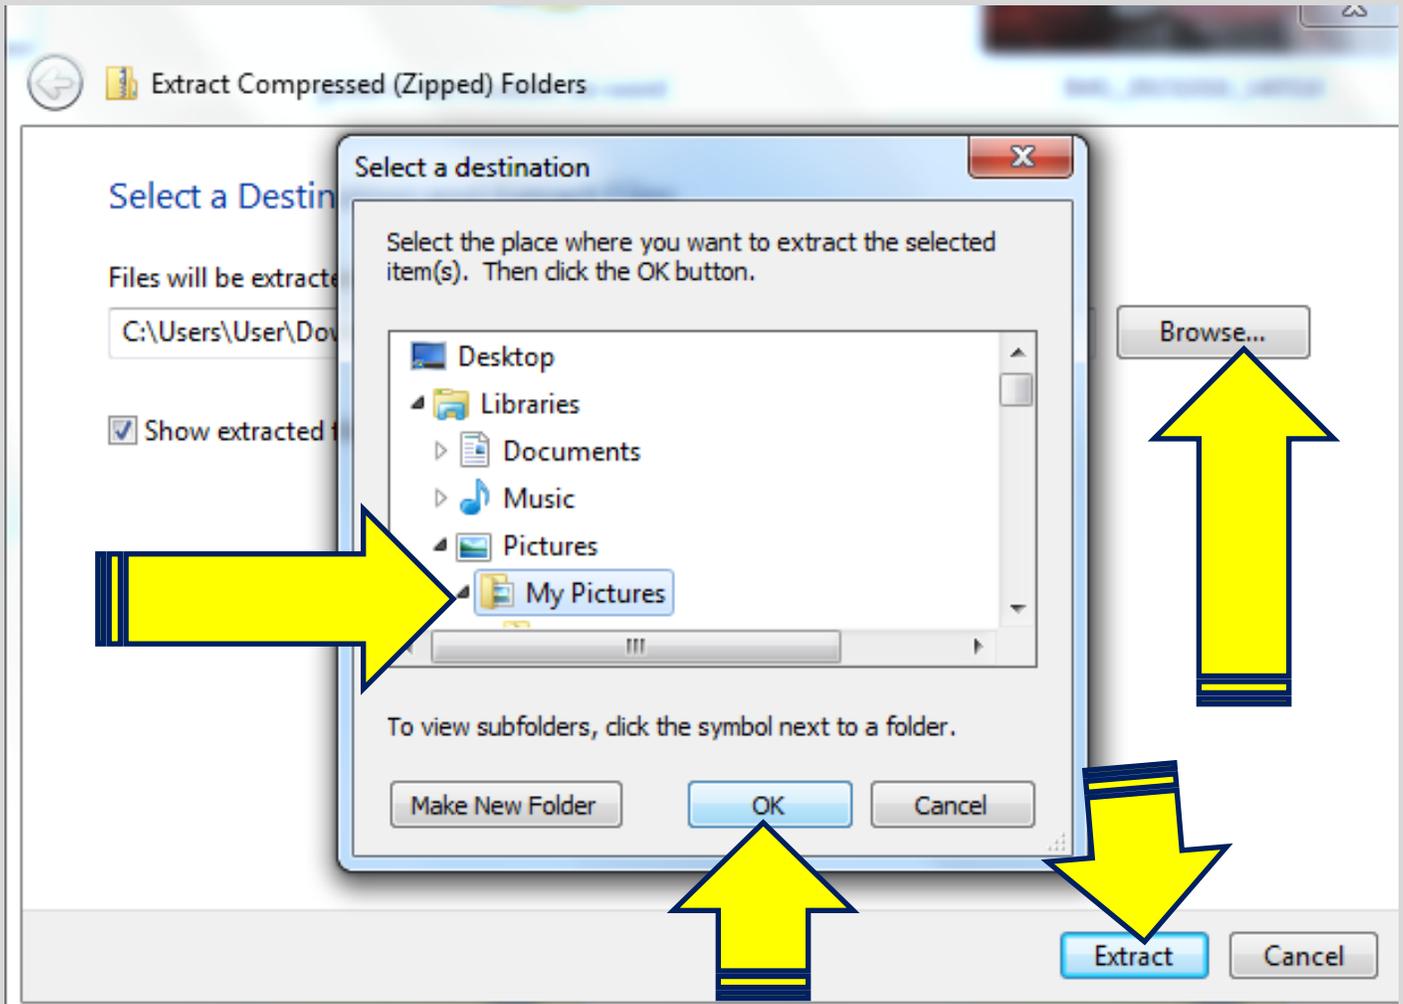

Step 17: Now find the folder where you told the files to extract to. Voila! Your photos will be there. Hooray! Yippee!
